The Reign™ features the C.A.M.™ (Continuous Axis Migration) weight block. This newly designed part utilizes strategic contours along the Y and Z axes allowing for more consistent core motion as the ball migrates to its PSA. As an added feature, we have strategically placed optimal weighted mass blocks along the X axis for steeper entry angle. This means a more consistent motion through the front part of the lane and explosive backend power.

We have encapsulated the C.A.M.™ core with the performance proven R2S™ pearlized coverstock. Our tests show that the R2S™ pearl delivers the optimum length and backend motion to enhance this shape.

In addition to its great price, this ball delivers a benchmark in innovation and performance.
