What Bowling This Month magazine
had to say about the Y2K™ ...

"It appears a trend is beginning to surface. Third party balls are strong. We tested the Y2K on all of the standard house patterns... The one universal was that this is one strong ball... (The Y2K) is a monster in total hook (about 18.5 to 19), back end (11), and flare (8 inches)... It ranks within an eyelash of the strongest balls out today -- including the TECs/Pro Traction balls from Columbia and Track. ...At no time were we out of control and at no time did the Y2K fail to react as we expected." --Bowling This Month, June 1999
