CLASSIC URETHANE

Bowlers have been asking for it and we now have it, a great urethane option! Columbia 300 dominated the high performance market when urethane was king and now we're back at it.

RESURGENCE CORE

Columbia 300 produced a urethane ball in the 1980's called the U2; this signified that the ball used a 2-piece core. While the 2-piece core is considered the norm in performance balls these days, we decided to bring the name back, and threw in one of Columbia 300's most successful cores, the Resurgence Core, for added performance.

WHAT TO EXPECT

The Classic U2 is exactly what you would expect of a urethane ball: it is smooth, controllable, and devastates the pins in the right environment. The Classic U2 is an excellent choice for higher rev rates, slower ball speeds, tough and dry conditions.
