

CAPABLE OF ZERO TO 300

IN 12 FRAMES.

XENEX ASYMMETRIC CORE
creates continuation on the backend.

Test drive the new Optyx Illusion and right away you'll notice how it looks and how it handles lane changes like a pro. The combination of Illusion's new Xenex asymmetrical core and the addition of ChromaFlair™ particles to its "Big Daddy™" reactive resin coverstock minimize overreaction on high-friction areas for a smooth transition from oil to dry. Even when sitting still, the new Illusion looks revved and ready to put you on the road to a perfect game.
